

A one-stop job shop, Airport Jobs makes it easy for job seekers to look for work, and a snap for employers to find the perfect candidate for an open position.

Overview

Located in the main terminal of Seattle-Tacoma International Airport, Airport Jobs is the primary recruiting tool for many airport and airport-related employers and the principal resource for people seeking employment in or around Sea-Tac Airport.

Services for Job Seekers

Tens of thousands of job seekers (many of whom are immigrants or refugees, speaking nearly 100 different native languages) have utilized services at Airport Jobs. Airport Jobs provides assistance to job seekers in:

- Understanding the nature of airport jobs.
- Completing employment applications.
- Creating resumes and cover letters.
- Job search and interviewing techniques.
- Referrals to community resources.

Services for Employers

Since Airport Jobs opened in early 2000, hundreds of companies have listed job positions at the Airport Jobs office, underscoring its importance as a recruiting tool for airport employers.

More than 100 employers list open positions on Airport Jobs' weekly "Hot List", which is distributed to job seekers visiting the office, via our website and by e-mail to 400+ organizations and job developers.

A number of employers use Airport Jobs' special targeted recruiting events and open interview opportunities to quickly hire significant numbers of employees to fulfill new contracts, start up local operations, or expand markets.

Services for Community Service Partners

If your client needs to go to work, Airport Jobs can help! Many services available to support your clients, including:

- Comprehensive job listings (e-mailed weekly);
- Training for Workforce Development Professionals about Sea-Tac Airport's job opportunities and hiring process;
- Special classes and workshops for specific client needs;
